The Demonstration of Progress is a checkpoint at the start of Semester 2. Students have five minutes to present to their second marker the rationale for their project, the essential background work, what they have done so far, and concluding reflections.

Supervisors will advise students on the best way to communicate their progress in the allotted five minutes. For example, students might want to show software in action or present slides illustrating the key points of their project. In any case, they should be prepared to answer questions.

Conditions

This is an individual assignment. Each student may not collaborate or work with another student. All work presented must be entirely personal, with advice from the project supervisor.

As with all assessment, this coursework is subject to the University regulations on Plagiarism, a summary of which is in the Computer Science Undergraduate Programmes Handbook.

Deliverables

Students should upload to Moodle a five-minute video.

They also should upload the ethics document needed by their project as specified at <https://moodle.bath.ac.uk/course/view.php?id=58476§ion=1>. Those ethics documents need not have obtained, at this stage, Department or University approval, but they need to be submitted to the relevant committees by the coursework deadline. The penalty for not complying with this prescription is 10% of this coursework's mark.

Marking and Feedback

The second marker provides feedback for and marks this coursework by using the mark sheet published on Moodle. Students will receive a copy of the mark sheet with their feedback and mark within three weeks of their submission. The final mark will be subject to moderation by the coordinator of the unit.

Extensions

Each student can ask for an extension if they have a valid reason; otherwise, they are expected to meet the deadline of the Demonstration of Progress – if they do not, they are marked at 0.
